2Q10 preliminary results

SEC announced its 2Q10 preliminary results after market close on 19 July 2010. Net income increased 49.4% YoY to SR1,068mn and above our estimate of SR948mn.

- Net income was above our estimate: Net income for 2Q10 came in at SR1,068mn versus our estimate of SR948mn (12.7% variance). This translates to a 49.4% increases YoY.
- Operating income increased 54% YoY: Operating income for 2Q10 came in at SR962mn versus our estimate of SR810mn (18.8% above our estimates).
- Higher revenues and lower costs drives earnings growth: According to the company, the strong net profit growth for the quarter was driven by a decrease in certain operating expenses and higher revenues. We note that the company has not yet disclosed its revenue figures so the growth rate is still unclear. It is also very important to note that the announced change in tariffs last month did not affect revenues this quarter.
- Awaiting the impact of tariff structure change in 3Q10: The change in tariff structure for the industrial, commercial and government customers that was announced the previous month will directly contribute to the bottom line figure in 3Q10 where we expect the company's net income to increase significantly. We expect this to be one of the key triggers for the stock in continuing its upward momentum.
- Valuation: We are Overweight on SEC and believe that the current market price does not fully factor in the potential earnings growth which will be witnessed starting from 3Q10.
