Upside/ Downside	—

Revenue fell 13% YoY on lower data center revenue

Al Moammar Information Systems' (MIS) revenue declined 13% YoY in 2Q25. This was primarily due to lower revenue from data centers, as the project is nearing completion

Net profit edges higher despite lower operating profit

Gross profit slid at a faster rate than revenue in 2Q25 owing to a decrease in a few channels of ICT solutions. The company posted a similar performance at the operating profit level, which decreased 14% YoY. Net profit, however, rose 2% YoY, amid higher net non-operating income during 2Q25. As a result, the net profit margin improved by 1.5 percentage points to 10.6%.

U-Capital view

While the near-completion data center project weighed on 2Q25 revenue, MIS continues to win new contracts at regular intervals across different verticals. We opine that a strong project backlog amid recent contract wins offers strong future growth potential for the company, subject to timely execution. We keep MIS under review as we await detailed financial information and revisit our investment case and rating.
