d. Risks Associated with Investments in The Fund

- The Fund is considered to be of high-risk, and NCB Capital gives no assurance that any appreciation in the value of the Fund's Investments will occur, or that the value of the Fund's Investments and the income derived from them may decrease. NCB Capital gives no assurance that the Fund's Investment Objectives will be achieved.
- The prior performance of the Investment Fund or the prior performance of the index is not indicative of the Fund's future performance.
- There is no guarantee that the absolute performance of The Fund or its performance relative to the Benchmark will be repeated or similar to any past performance.
- Investment in The Fund is not considered as a deposit with any local bank that promotes or sells securities, nor is it affiliated with the Investment Fund or the Fund Manager. Therefore, Unitholders might lose some or all of their Investments. Investing in money market Funds is different from depositing money with a local bank.
- The value of the Units and their revenues are subject to rise and fall. Investors may not be able to recover some or all of their Investments; people are advised to invest in the Fund only if they are able to afford the loss, which can sometimes be substantial.

- The Fund Manager is not required to accept the Unit Redemption Request at the Subscription price, and the value of the Units and their revenues are subject to rise and fall.
- The following is a list of the main potential risks associated with investing in the Fund, the risks exposed to the Fund and any circumstances likely to affect the Net Asset Value and returns of the Fund, noting that the mentioned risks below might not represent all risk factors related to investing in the Fund:

Equity Market Risk: Investment in stocks is associated with high market volatility. The value of shares may unexpectedly decline sharply and a portion of the capital may be lost, which will impact the Unit price. Thus, the risk inherent in equity investing is higher than Murabaha and money market Investments or other types of short-term investment instruments.

Sharia Investment Risk: This is the risk of concentrating investment in Shariah-compliant companies. It also includes the risk of disposing of non Shariah-compliant companies sometimes at unfavorable prices in order to comply with the Fund's Shariah Guidelines, which would adversely affect the Fund Investments and Unit price.

Parallel Market Investment Risks: If a Fund invests companies listed in the Parallel Market, such companies may be less liquid than companies listed in the main market, as participation in the Parallel Market is allowed for a certain category of Investors. Moreover, companies listed in the Parallel Market are more volatile as the volatility range ratio is higher than in the main market. Companies listed in Parallel Market may be newly established or have a short operational history with limited human and financial resources. In addition, the disclosure requirements for listed companies in this market are relatively lower than main market listed companies. All of this may affect the accuracy of the Fund Manager's assessment of a company's performance and price, which may adversely affect the performance of the Fund and the Unit price.

Risk of Investment in Real Estate Investment Traded Fund (REIT): The Fund may invest in Units of REITs, which may face low levels of liquidity and tradability. Unit prices of such may also fluctuate due to market movements in general and Real Estate markets in particular. In addition, there is no guarantee that REITs will distribute income to Investors on an annual basis as required by regulations, as distributions depend on the performance of the underlying real assets. Distribution of income, if any, depends on the Fund's ability to meet its obligations. Additionally, investment in these Funds is associated with the risk of Real Estate Assets, the value or valuation of which may be adversely affected by business factors such as lower rental or occupancy rates, lessees' financial position, poor infrastructure, etc.

Risks Associated with Credit and Counterparty: Risks involving change in the financial position of the contracting parties as a result of changes in management, demand or products and services, which may result in failure of these parties to fulfill agreed obligations or deliver contracts, and which will consequently cause a decline in the Unit prices.

Rating Downgrade Risk: Any change relating to a credit rating downgrade, by a rating agency, of a security/issuer/counterparty may adversely affect the value of the Investments, hence, leading to a decline in the Fund's Net Asset Value and Unit price as a result of the impairment of the Fund's investment vehicles whose credit rating has been lowered.

Risk of Reliance on Internal Rating of Counterparties: Unitholders are subject to the risks associated with the Fund's Investments in unrated counterparties, where such Investments are based first on research and analysis, then on the internal valuation and rating carried out by the Fund Manager. Any deterioration in the financial position of counterparties may result in devaluation of the Fund's Net Asset Value, which would adversely affect the Fund's Unit price.

Issuer Specific Risk: This includes changes in the performance of the issuer due to changes in management or financial conditions, or demand for the products or services offered by the issuer, which may cause its share price to decline, and, as a result, adversely affect the Fund's performance and Unit price.

Concentration Risk: The risk of the Fund Investments being concentrated in some companies and market sectors which will render the Fund's performance vulnerable to high volatility due to changes in the conditions of the companies and sectors being invested in, which may adversely impact the Fund's performance

Geopolitical Risk: This is the risk of changes in political conditions and applicable laws of the countries in which markets the Fund is investing, or in neighboring countries, which may have an adverse impact on the Fund's performance.

Regulatory Risk: This is the risk of changes in the regulatory environment and legislation, accounting and local government regulations, which may adversely affect the Fund Manager's ability to manage the Fund or cause the value of the shares invested in to decline, which may have an adverse impact on the Fund's performance and Unit value.

Economic Risk: This is the risk of changes in the economic conditions such as recession, inflation, or oil prices, which may negatively affect the value of shares invested in, thus adversely impacting the Fund's performance and Unit value.

Interest Rate Risk: This is the risk that the value of financial instruments will fluctuate due to changes in interest rates. Thus, the value of securities and the prices of companies' equity may be unfavorably affected by fluctuations in interest rates.

Liquidity Risk: This is the risk of investment in illiquid shares of companies which may be difficult at certain times to monetize at favorable prices to meet the Fund's liquidity requirements, which may have adverse impact on the Fund's performance in case of sale. Liquidity of Investments may be low in some periods, which may cause the valuation of Fund's Investments to become more difficult. Reduced market liquidity may adversely affect the market price of the Fund's Investments and the Fund's ability to sell particular Investments to meet its liquidity requirements.

Risk Natural Disasters: Natural Disaster Risk: these include volcanoes, earthquakes, hurricanes, and floods, which are beyond control and may cause considerable damage to property and assets. Natural disasters may adversely affect the performance of all sectors, including economic and investment sectors, and, as a result, adversely affect the Fund's performance and Unit price.

Conflict of Interest Risk: This risk arises in situations that affect the objectivity and independence of the Fund Manager's investment decisions due to a personal interest. This may adversely affect the Fund's performance.

Risks of Dependence on the Fund Manager's Personnel: The Fund's performance depends largely on the capabilities and skills of the Fund Manager's employees. The Fund's performance may be significantly by the resignation or absence of any one of them should the Fund Manager fail to secure a suitable replacement.

Emerging Markets Risk: The Saudi market is one of the emerging markets in which investment may involve risks such as failure or delay to complete transaction settlements and listing and custody of securities. Moreover, investment in such markets poses higher risks. The market value of securities invested in that are traded in emerging markets is relatively limited as the majority of market capitalization and trading volumes are concentrated in a limited number of companies. Therefore, the Fund's assets and Investments in an emerging market may experience greater price volatility and significantly lower liquidity as compared to investment in more developed markets.

Currency Risk: A difference in the exchange rate can lead to losses when investing in a currency other than that of the Fund since exchange rates may fluctuate at times of redemption and subscription to the Fund.

IPO Investment Risk: This is the risk of investing in green field companies with no operating history that would allow the Fund Manager to properly assess the company's performance. Moreover, the companies that offer their securities may represent new sectors or ones that are in the early stage of operation. This could reflect negatively on the Fund performance and the Unit price.

Risk of Delayed Listing: In case of subscription by the Fund in companies IPO, the listing of companies' shares subscribed in the exchange may be delayed, which means locking off the amount of subscription and limiting the investment opportunities available to the Fund, which could adversely affect the Fund performance and the Unit price.

Borrowing Risk: In case of borrowing by the Fund for investment purposes, the Fund may not be able to repay its obligations on time for reasons beyond the control of the Fund Manager. This may result in late payment fees or cause the Fund to sell some of its Investments. In addition, the borrowing costs could affect the Fund's performance, and negatively impact the Unit prices.

Risks of Investment in other Funds: The other Investment Funds in which the Fund invests may be exposed to risks similar to those set out in this paragraph, which may adversely affect the Fund's performance and the Unit price.

Risk of the Suspension of Trading: Non-compliance by companies listed on Tadawul with Saudi Capital Market Law and its implementing regulations, including the Listing Rules, may lead to suspension of trading in the shares of such companies, which may adversely affect the value of the Fund's assets and consequently the Unit price.

Risk of Large Redemptions: This is the risk of large redemptions by Unitholders which may cause the Fund Manager to liquidate assets of the Fund at less favorable prices, which leads to reducing the value of the Fund's assets and lower Unit price.

Credit Risk: This is the risk relating to the possibility of failure by the counterparties to fulfill their contractual obligations with the Fund Manager under the contracts or agreements. These risks apply to the Fund in the event of investing in Murabaha Funds which engage in transactions with third parties, the default of which would adversely affect the Fund's Investments and Unit price.

Results Allocation Risk: This is the risk of a reduced opportunity for the Fund to be allocated a sufficient number of shares due to the high number of companies and Funds participating in the book building process and consequently in the Fund. In addition, the Fund may not guarantee the right to participate in any IPO, or that the CMA will continue with an IPO through the book building process. This may reduce earnings of the Fund and have a negative impact on the Unit price.

3) Principal investment risks

- The Fund is considered to be of high-risk, and NCB Capital gives no assurance that any appreciation in the value of the Fund's Investments will occur, or that the value of the Fund's Investments and the income derived from them may decrease. NCB Capital gives no assurance that the Fund's Investment Objectives will be achieved.
- The prior performance of the Investment Fund or the prior performance of the index is not indicative of the Fund's future performance.
- There is no guarantee that the absolute performance of The Fund or its performance relative to the Benchmark will be repeated or similar to any past performance.
- Investment in The Fund is not considered as a deposit with any local bank that promotes or sells securities, nor is it affiliated with the Investment Fund or the Fund Manager. Therefore, Unitholders might lose some or all of their Investments. Investing in money market Funds is different from depositing money with a local bank.
- The value of the Units and their revenues are subject to rise and fall. Investors may not be able to recover some or all of their Investments; people are advised to invest in the Fund only if they are able to afford the loss, which can sometimes be substantial.
- The Fund Manager is not required to accept the Unit Redemption Request at the Subscription price, and the value of the Units and their revenues are subject to rise and fall.
- The following is a list of the main potential risks associated with investing in the Fund, the risks exposed to the Fund and any circumstances likely to affect the Net Asset Value and returns of the Fund, noting that the mentioned risks below might not represent all risk factors related to investing in the Fund:
Equity Market Risk: Investment in stocks is associated with high market volatility. The value of shares may unexpectedly decline sharply and a portion of the capital may be lost, which will impact the Unit price. Thus, the risk inherent in equity investing is higher than Murabaha and money market Investments or other types of short-term investment instruments.

Sharia Investment Risk: This is the risk of concentrating investment in Shariah-compliant companies. It also includes the risk of disposing of non Shariah-compliant companies sometimes at unfavorable prices in order to comply with the Fund's Shariah Guidelines, which would adversely affect the Fund Investments and Unit price.

Parallel Market Investment Risks: If a Fund invests companies listed in the Parallel Market, such companies may be less liquid than companies listed in the main market, as participation in the Parallel Market is allowed for a certain category of Investors. Moreover, companies listed in the Parallel Market are more volatile as the volatility range ratio is higher than in the main market. Companies listed in Parallel Market may be newly established or have a short operational history with limited human and financial resources. In addition, the disclosure requirements for listed companies in this market are relatively lower than main market listed companies. All of this may affect the accuracy of the Fund Manager's assessment of a company's performance and price, which may adversely affect the performance of the Fund and the Unit price.

Risk of Investment in Real Estate Investment Traded Fund (REIT): The Fund may invest in Units of REITs, which may face low levels of liquidity and tradability. Unit prices of such may also fluctuate due to market movements in general and Real Estate markets in particular. In addition, there is no guarantee that REITs will distribute income to Investors on an annual basis as required by regulations, as distributions depend on the performance of the underlying real assets. Distribution of income, if any, depends on the Fund's ability to meet its obligations. Additionally, investment in these Funds is associated with the risk of Real Estate Assets, the value or valuation of which may be adversely affected by business factors such as lower rental or occupancy rates, lessees' financial position, poor infrastructure, etc.

Risks Associated with Credit and Counterparty: Risks involving change in the financial position of the contracting parties as a result of changes in management, demand or products and services, which may result in failure of these parties to fulfill agreed obligations or deliver contracts, and which will consequently cause a decline in the Unit prices.

Rating Downgrade Risk: Any change relating to a credit rating downgrade, by a rating agency, of a security/issuer/counterparty may adversely affect the value of the Investments, hence, leading to a decline in the Fund's Net Asset Value and Unit price as a result of the impairment of the Fund's investment vehicles whose credit rating has been lowered.

Risk of Reliance on Internal Rating of Counterparties: Unitholders are subject to the risks associated with the Fund's Investments in unrated counterparties, where such Investments are based first on research and analysis, then on the internal valuation and rating carried out by the Fund Manager. Any deterioration in the financial position of counterparties may result in devaluation of the Fund's Net Asset Value, which would adversely affect the Fund's Unit price.

Issuer Specific Risk: This includes changes in the performance of the issuer due to changes in management or financial conditions, or demand for the products or services offered by the issuer, which may cause its share price to decline, and, as a result, adversely affect the Fund's performance and Unit price.

Concentration Risk: The risk of the Fund Investments being concentrated in some companies and market sectors which will render the Fund's performance vulnerable to high volatility due to changes in the conditions of the companies and sectors being invested in, which may adversely impact the Fund's performance

Geopolitical Risk: This is the risk of changes in political conditions and applicable laws of the countries in which markets the Fund is investing, or in neighboring countries, which may have an adverse impact on the Fund's performance.

Regulatory Risk: This is the risk of changes in the regulatory environment and legislation, accounting and local government regulations, which may adversely affect the Fund Manager's ability to manage the Fund or cause the value of the shares invested in to decline, which may have an adverse impact on the Fund's performance and Unit value.

Economic Risk: This is the risk of changes in the economic conditions such as recession, inflation, or oil prices, which may negatively affect the value of shares invested in, thus adversely impacting the Fund's performance and Unit value.

Interest Rate Risk: This is the risk that the value of financial instruments will fluctuate due to changes in interest rates. Thus, the value of securities and the prices of companies' equity may be unfavorably affected by fluctuations in interest rates.

Liquidity Risk: This is the risk of investment in illiquid shares of companies which may be difficult at certain times to monetize at favorable prices to meet the Fund's liquidity requirements, which may have adverse impact on the Fund's performance in case of sale. Liquidity of Investments may be low in some periods, which may cause the valuation of Fund's Investments to become more difficult. Reduced market liquidity may adversely affect the market price of the Fund's Investments and the Fund's ability to sell particular Investments to meet its liquidity requirements.

Risk Natural Disasters: Natural Disaster Risk: these include volcanoes, earthquakes, hurricanes, and floods, which are beyond control and may cause considerable damage to property and assets. Natural disasters may adversely affect the performance of all sectors, including economic and investment sectors, and, as a result, adversely affect the Fund's performance and Unit price.

Conflict of Interest Risk: This risk arises in situations that affect the objectivity and independence of the Fund Manager's investment decisions due to a personal interest. This may adversely affect the Fund's performance.

Risks of Dependence on the Fund Manager's Personnel: The Fund's performance depends largely on the capabilities and skills of the Fund Manager's employees. The Fund's performance may be significantly by the resignation or absence of any one of them should the Fund Manager fail to secure a suitable replacement.

Emerging Markets Risk: The Saudi market is one of the emerging markets in which investment may involve risks such as failure or delay to complete transaction settlements and listing and custody of securities. Moreover, investment in such markets poses higher risks. The market value of securities invested in that are traded in emerging markets is relatively limited as the majority of market capitalization and trading volumes are concentrated in a limited number of companies. Therefore, the Fund's assets and Investments in an emerging market may experience greater price volatility and significantly lower liquidity as compared to investment in more developed markets.

Currency Risk: A difference in the exchange rate can lead to losses when investing in a currency other than that of the Fund since exchange rates may fluctuate at times of redemption and subscription to the Fund.

IPO Investment Risk: This is the risk of investing in green field companies with no operating history that would allow the Fund Manager to properly assess the company's performance. Moreover, the companies that offer their securities may represent new sectors or ones that are in the early stage of operation. This could reflect negatively on the Fund performance and the Unit price.

Risk of Delayed Listing: In case of subscription by the Fund in companies IPO, the listing of companies' shares subscribed in the exchange may be delayed, which means locking off the amount of subscription and limiting the investment opportunities available to the Fund, which could adversely affect the Fund performance and the Unit price.

Borrowing Risk: In case of borrowing by the Fund for investment purposes, the Fund may not be able to repay its obligations on time for reasons beyond the control of the Fund Manager. This may result in late payment fees or cause the Fund to sell some of its Investments. In addition, the borrowing costs could affect the Fund's performance, and negatively impact the Unit prices.

Risks of Investment in other Funds: The other Investment Funds in which the Fund invests may be exposed to risks similar to those set out in this paragraph, which may adversely affect the Fund's performance and the Unit price.

Risk of the Suspension of Trading: Non-compliance by companies listed on Tadawul with Saudi Capital Market Law and its implementing regulations, including the Listing Rules, may lead to suspension of trading in the shares of such companies, which may adversely affect the value of the Fund's assets and consequently the Unit price.

Risk of Large Redemptions: This is the risk of large redemptions by Unitholders which may cause the Fund Manager to liquidate assets of the Fund at less favorable prices, which leads to reducing the value of the Fund's assets and lower Unit price.

Credit Risk: This is the risk relating to the possibility of failure by the counterparties to fulfill their contractual obligations with the Fund Manager under the contracts or agreements. These risks apply to the Fund in the event of investing in Murabaha Funds which engage in transactions with third parties, the default of which would adversely affect the Fund's Investments and Unit price.

Results Allocation Risk: This is the risk of a reduced opportunity for the Fund to be allocated a sufficient number of shares due to the high number of companies and Funds participating in the book building process and consequently in the Fund. In addition, the Fund may not guarantee the right to participate in any IPO, or that the CMA will continue with an IPO through the book building process. This may reduce earnings of the Fund and have a negative impact on the Unit price.

6) Valuation and Pricing

a. Method of valuation of each asset owned by The Fund

The total value of the Fund's assets is calculated based on the closing prices of the underlying securities owned by the Fund on the Valuation Day in addition to any accrued profits. Moreover, Investments in other Investment Funds will be valued based on the latest Unit price declared by those Funds. The shares that have been subscribed to through IPOs will be valued in the period between subscription and trading of securities based on the subscription price.

b. Frequency of valuation and valuation points

The Fund's assets are valued at the end of each Saudi Business Day, based on the Business Day on which securities are listed, and the Unit price is published at the end of the day following the Valuation Day.

The Fund Manager shall provide a summary of all valuation and pricing errors (if any) to the CMA in accordance with Article (72) of the Investment Funds Regulations.

d. Calculation of Unit Price for Subscription and Redemption Requests

The Unit price will be calculated using the total value of the Fund's assets mentioned in Paragraph 6-A, including the profits due, profits to be collected and the reinvested dividends of the Fund, and deducting Management Fees after deduction of all expenses and fixed obligations, and any other expenses due; and then, by dividing the result by the total number of Units that exist at that time. In exceptional or contingency cases in which the Fund Manager reasonably determines that a significant portion of the Fund's assets cannot be assessed reliably, the valuation of the Fund's assets may be delayed until such interim action is subsequently reviewed by the Fund Manager.

The Net Asset Value of the Fund is calculated as follows:

- All expenses, fixed charges and operating expenses are calculated on a daily basis of the total Assets and are deducted on the Valuation Date.
- Management Fees are calculated and deducted from the output of the previous step and the result is the Net Asset Value of the Fund.

The two previous steps can be summarized in the following equation:

- $\text{Net Asset Value of Fund} = (\text{Total Asset size} - \text{Fixed Fees and Actual Operating Expenses}) - (\text{Management Fees})$
