A license must also be obtained for each station from the Ministry of Municipal and Rural Affairs and Civil Defense and the National Center for Environmental Compliance Monitoring to carry out the activity of fuel stations (each station separately), and the company's business may be affected if it is unable in the future to obtain these licenses for new stations or renew their existing ones.

A large number of the company's employees are non-Saudis (fuel station workers and trailer drivers). If more stringent requirements for Saudization are applied, the company may be adversely affected. It may be difficult to obtain visas for the purpose of labor recruitment. This will in turn cause inability to operate the stations and transport.

In general, any amendment to the regulations and instructions relating to company's business, including transport, loading, unloading and storage of petroleum products as well as hazardous and flammable substances, and to the requirements of environment protection and cafe licensing would materially increase the costs and burdens of the company, which may be negatively reflected on the company's financial position, business results and cash flows.

2. Reliance on Customers by Governmental Agencies and Companies:

The percentage of revenues earned from contracts signed with the governmental agencies and private companies in 2022 were about 8.8% of the Petroleum Services total revenues, while Logistics and Transportation Division revenues depend on companies. Whereas the contracts are renewed through open tenders, but there is no guarantee that the same will be renewed in the future. In case of inability to renew these contracts, the company's financial position, business results and cash flows thereof may be adversely affected.

3. Risks associated with fuels availability and prices:

The company, like others engaged in the provision of petroleum services, relies on Saudi Aramco to obtain fuels. Therefore, any delay in the supplies received from Aramco or any change in the terms of contracts signed therewith in this regard may adversely affect the company's activity.

Any significant change in fuel prices by the official bodies will have a negative effect on profit margin and may adversely affect the company's main activities, business results and cash flows. Moreover, the company's financial position may be affected in general, in case of inability to keep up with any potential rise in fuel prices by increasing the prices of its services or reducing the operating costs.

4. Risks associated with Insurance Coverage:

The company took all necessary measures to minimize any potential losses by purchasing insurance policies for Petroleum Services Division, covering public liability, vehicle accidents, fire and crime. The insurance policies for Logistics and Transportation Division cover vehicles, land transport services, liability against third party, fire and crime. The company net income, operation results and financial position may be affected as a result of any future losses pertaining to accidents or damages not covered by these policies or to accidents not covered by insurance such as terrorist acts and risks that may result from handling hazardous and toxic substances which may harm the environment or human beings.

5. Reliance on Important Human Cadres:

The company depends on the efficiency and expertise of the Executive Management as well as important human cadres. It took several measures to reduce loss of such cadres or inability to find suitable alternatives in case of losing the same. The company does not guarantee the possibility to keep the working qualified human cadres or to find alternatives with the same degree of qualifications in case the same are lost; which may be negatively reflected on the company's revenues, business results and financial position.

6. Reliance on Certain Important Computer Programs:

The company relies effectively on Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) System, which provides integrated results for the company's operations and facilitates information flow among departments. Any malfunction, failure or dispute regarding the property rights of this System may adversely affect the company's operations.

7. Risks associated with Market:

A. Competitive Environment

Changes in the competitive environment may result in reduction of prices and profit margins as well as loss of the market share partially, which would adversely affect the company's profits.

B. Excellence of Services

The provision of excellent services at reasonable prices is one of the most important factors that have made the company a strong competitor in the market. It cannot guarantee the inability of existing or potential competitors to provide services that might be better and more distinctive than those offered by the company, which may adversely affect the operating results.

C. Mergers and Alliances

It is possible to merge or unite companies engaged in petroleum and transport services in order to constitute rapidly evolving competitive consortiums, which could enable the same to get a larger share in the market on the company's account.

8- Distribution of Profits:

The company's resolution on the distribution of any future profits depends on several factors, including profit realization, financial position, working capital requirements, distributable profits, credit limits available for company along with the general economic situation. It also relies on many other factors to be evaluated by the Board of Directors. Accordingly, the company does not assure the existing or prospective shareholders that any profits will be distributed in the future or confirm the amount of profits to be distributed in case of distribution approval.

9- Financial Risk:

Financial risk can occur if the company fails to provide adequate liquidity to meet the firm's obligations or manages financial risks in a manner that is inconsistent with the firm's business objectives. Its severity depends on several factors, which include the firm's size, industry, financial position (e.g., public/private, advantage, free cash flow to equity, etc.), and the direction of the market.

1-Price Risk:

The exposure of earnings or net worth to changes in market factors (e.g., interest rates, currency rates), which affect income, expense, or balance sheet value

2-Liquidity Risk:

The exposure to loss because of the inability to meet cash flow obligations in a timely and cost-effective manner. Liquidity risk often arises because of an investment portfolio with a cash flow and/or maturity profile, which differs from the underlying cash flows dictated by the company's operating requirements and other obligations.

a. Cash Flow Risk

Actual losses incurred because of the inability to fund the operational or financial obligations of the business.

b. Opportunity Cost Risk

The use of funds in a manner that leads to the loss of economic value, including time value losses, transaction costs due to inappropriate or inefficient management of cash flows, and other causes of loss of value

c. Concentration Risk

Exposure to loss because of the inability to access cash in a timely manner due to the inability to liquidate exposures without moving the market, unusual market conditions, use of "proprietary" financial products, or excessive reliance on a small number of funding sources.

3-Credit Risk:

The exposure to actual loss or opportunity cost because of default (or other failure to perform) by an economic or legal entity (the debtor) with which the company does business.

a. Default Risk

A counter party will be unable to fulfill its obligations.

b. Concentration Risk

Inappropriate emphasis of sales volume or revenues on a single customer, industry sector, or other economic segment leads to exposure to excessive loss.

c. Settlement Risk

In financial terms, this risk arises when financial counterparties effect their payments to each other at different times or in different locations. In a non-financial context, settlement risk describes the risk of unexpected costs and/or administrative inconvenience, associated with the failure to deliver payment in the right place at the right time.

d. Collateral Risk

- Product/Service Pricing Risk: The Company's price is more than customers are willing to pay or does not cover production and distribution costs.
- Contract Commitment Risk: The Company does not have information that effectively tracks contractual commitments outstanding at a point in time, so that the financial implications of decisions to enter to incremental commitments can be appropriately considered by decision-makers.
- Measurement (Operations) Risk: Process performance measures do not provide a reliable portrayal of operating performance and do not accurately reflect reality. The measures do not provide relevant information for decision-making because they are not informative, understandable, believable, actionable, or indicators of change.

To avoid myopic result, short-term fixation on manipulating the outputs of business processes to achieve financial targets, rather than fulfilling customer expectations by controlling and improving processes.

2-Public Reporting:

- Financial Reporting Evaluation Risk: Financial reports issued to existing and prospective investors and lenders include material misstatements or omit material facts, making them misleading.
- Internal Control Evaluation Risk: Failure to accumulate sufficient relevant and reliable information to assess the design and operating effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, resulting in inaccurate assertions by management in the internal control report.
- Executive Certification Risk: Failure to accumulate sufficient, relevant, and reliable information to assess the design and operating effectiveness of disclosure controls and procedures, resulting in material information not being disclosed timely to certifying officers and in public reports.
- Taxation Risk: Significant transactions of the company have adverse tax consequences that could have been avoided had they been structured differently. Failure to comply with all tax regulations (e.g. payment and filing requirements) creates risks.

- Business Portfolio Risk: The risk that a firm will not maximize business performance by effectively prioritizing its products or balancing its businesses in a strategic context.
- Investment Valuation/Evaluation Risk: Management does not have sufficient financial information to make informed short-term and long-term investment decisions and link the risks accepted to the capital at risk. Management and key decision-makers are unable to reliably measure the value of a specific business or any of its significant segments in a strategic context.

- Resource Allocation Risk: The Company's resource allocation process does not establish and sustain competitive advantage or maximize returns for shareholders.
- Planning Risk: The Company's business strategies are not driven by creative and intuitive input or based on current assumptions about the external environment, resulting in strategies that are out-of-date and unfocused.

- Lifecycle Risk: An organization's approach to managing the movement of its product lines and evolution of its industry along the lifecycle (e.g., start-up, growth, maturity, and decline) threatens the ultimate success of its business strategies.
- Compliance risk: The objectives and performance procedures of the company's business operations are not consistent with the overall objectives and strategies. Objectives and actions do not focus on the right things and lead to inconsistent and conflicting activities.
- Accounting information risk: The financial accounting information used in managing business operations is not integrated with non-financial information focused on customer satisfaction, measuring quality, reducing cycle time, and increasing effectiveness. The result is a short look and a short-term fix in dealing with business process outputs to accomplish financial goals rather than meeting client expectations by controlling process improvement.

Based on the foregoing, the Statement of Income for the year ended on 31 December 2022 compared to 2021 was increase. In 2022, Company revenues amounted to 12,356.1 million Saudi riyals, while the same were 9,109.6 million Saudi riyals in 2021 by a increase rate of 35.6%. This was due to the increase of Petrol and Transport Divisions in the company's revenues this year. Revenues, gained from Petroleum Services Division and Logistics and Transportation Division, represent 97,50% and 2,50% of Company revenues for 2022 respectively. The operating profit generated from Company main business was 370.8 million Saudi riyals in 2022, while the same amounted to 284,8 million Saudi riyals in the previous year by the increase rate of 30,20%. Further, the net profit for 2022 was 241.8 million Saudi riyals while the same amounted to 176,8 million Saudi riyals in the previous year by the increase rate of 36.8%.

The reason for the increase of net profit for the current period compared with the same period of last year is due to the increase of Transport and Petrol Divisions sales, and the increase of Other Income and the income from Sukuk investment listed as amortized cost although there is decrease in investment profits in the joint venture and the increase in marketing expenses, general and administrative expenses, financial expenses, and Zakat expenses.

The increase in total comprehensive income during the current period compared to the same period of the previous year, despite the increase in the re-measurement losses of employees' defined benefit obligations.

Adjustment of income from operating operations for the previous year, the 4th quarter of the previous year, and the previous quarter of the current year results from reclassifying other revenues from within operations, in addition to adjusting realized and unrealized profits from the revaluation of investment at fair value through profit and loss.

Diesel price has been adjusted.
